

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 17 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Much of England unsettled for the next few days.

Today:

Sunny spells and a few showers for Scotland and Northern Ireland. Rather cloudy start for most of England and Wales. Sunny spells then developing for many away from the east, but also some showers over southern, eastern and central England.

Tonight:

Late afternoon showers fading away this evening leaving most areas dry with clear spells overnight. Rain may return to parts of southern England and East Anglia during the early hours.

Friday:

Fine and dry across Scotland and Northern Ireland. Cloudier and breezy for much of England and Wales with spells of heavy rain developing over eastern, southern and central England.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:

Rain clears early Saturday, leaving a mainly fine day. Further rain or showers follow for the end of the weekend and into Monday - risk of hail and thunder; cooler.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.